

SEAN BELL AND AMERICAN AXLE STRIKE

The three cops who killed Sean Bell in NYC on his wedding day were found "Not Guilty" on all charges, as 3,600 American Axle workers are beginning the third month of their strike. Workers walk the picket lines against company demands to cut our pay in half, freeze our pensions, and eliminate 1,000 jobs. The killer cops walk free, after firing 50 rounds at three unarmed young black men, to kill again. These events, plus the $2 billion-a-week bloodbath in Iraq, reflect what the bosses have in store for us, and why we need a revolutionary movement to smash them.

The killer cops were acquitted by a racist judge who didn't like the "demeanor" of the two witnesses who testified against them. They were the other two shooting victims, who survived when Sean was murdered. He also didn't like the fact that the two witnesses had prior criminal records! The cops use people with records as witnesses every day. But more to the point, in this racist society, with the highest prison population in the world, it's becoming much more common for a young black male to be in the criminal justice system than in college.

And if you are lucky enough to have a job, the bosses want you to work for poverty wages. AAM strikers know that better than most. As poverty and racist unemployment rises, so will police terror, to force us to accept a future of fascism and war.

Thousands of workers have walked the picket lines with the AAM strikers, and thousands more will be marching this weekend against the acquittal of these racist killer cops. But don't expect to see Clinton or Obama marching for either, as this is the future the bosses have in store for us no matter who occupies the White House.

Sean Bell and the American Axle strike are two big reasons to march on May Day. Build a mass, international, integrated movement of workers, soldiers and youth, for communist revolution. It's a long hard struggle. A better world's in birth.
